Jet Airport Talks Include The Glades

The possibility of using the Glades Airport at Pahokee in the Glades airport expansion program, was being pushed this week by County Commission Kenneth Foster to represent the Glades airport.

Rardin told the county board Monday that the Glades airport offered adequate facilities for some type of aviation use and that land was also available at the port for industrial sites.

The Glades airport consists of 160 acres and in the past has been used primarily by crop dusters and private plane operators.

The commission chairman asked that in developing plans for a new jet airport in the county, that some consideration for use of the Glades airport be considered. Rardin said he believed the airport could be put on a paying basis.

In connection with development of the jet base, Chairman Rardin named Commissioner Kenneth Foster to represent the board on a committee for planning the base—a group which includes the county engineer and county zoning director.

Jaycees Endorse Armory For Guard

At its regular meeting Thursday night the Jaycees endorsed the need for an armory building for the local Company of the National Guard.

The organization also expressed thanks for the anticipated use of the drill hall by the local public meetings as the answer to a critical need.

One of the purposes of the study is to recommend to the next legislature action which will modernize the Florida penal system.

Torrence License Subject Of Debate

Despite the unanimous legal opinion that Belle Glade could not deny a license because of its testimony before the grand jury, two of Belle Glade's Commissioners objected to the granting of the license at a special meeting of the Commission regular called on September 28th.

Unwin and Livingston protested the issuance of the license by the special meeting of the first order of business at Wednesday night's regular meeting.

After conversation it was agreed to accept the offer of the County's legal force to discuss openly if they had written to the Commission.

Other routine matters discussed were: accepting the plat of O. G. McWhorter's East Lake Park addition No. 2; reappointing John L. Evans to the Housing Authority Board, added 50% to regular charges for garbage collection outside of the city limits.

A preliminary discussion of charter changes to be asked in the next legislature.

Who Will Win The Ram Or The Tiger?

When the Belle Glade Rams and the Clewiston Tigers battle here tonight there will be a great deal more at stake than the average observer realizes. The winner might well achieve the heights of glory in the football game.

Both teams have championship potentialities and both will be laying unblemished records on the line.

To the Rams this will be more than just another game of football. For the first time in four years they have raised from the very bottom of the heap to a tie for the leadership of their league. They apparently like the view from their vantage point and will not relinquish it without a rousing struggle.

The Tigers, on the other hand, have been on top more recently and may not be so hungry for a win. Tonight's game will also have other interesting aspects. Clewiston will be, for the most part, operating from the single wing type of offense but will occasionally shift into the "T" type.

Belle Glade will continue its type "T" offense. The Rams will feature a wide open attack with much variety and frequent long and hard running plays.

THE UNDERWATER CABLES that represent the backbone of the system were placed by the cableship Monarch, the largest cable-laying vessel afloat. The 8,050 ton Monarch took a total of seven months to complete laying operations. She worked only in summer, when the turbulent North Atlantic is on its best behavior. At that, she took a battering from hurricane Ione in September of 1955, but finished her job on schedule.

The transatlantic telephone cable which was placed in operation Tuesday, September 25th will greatly improve telephone service between North America and Europe. E. F. Reddy, District Manager of Southern Bell Telephone Company said recently:

"Conversation between the two continents can now be carried on with the clarity and ease of a local telephone call," Mr. Reddy said.

"Last year over 683,000 overseas telephone calls were made from the United States," Mr. Reddy said. "About 68,000 of these originated in Southern Bell territory. The state of Orient, and the New York area for the rest of the world. Last year the Miami office, which is staffed with Southern Bell operators, handled about 47,000 overseas calls. Fort Lauderdale, Florida, is the control office for these calls.

Average weekly overseas calls to all foreign points:

State: Alabama, 112; Florida, 867; Georgia, 190; Kentucky, 71; Louisiana, 204; Mississippi, 552; North Carolina, 141; South Carolina, 75; Tennessee, 144.

New Member Appointed To Fla. R. E. Commission

Three outstanding Florida realtors comprise the membership of the Florida Real Estate Commission this year. Newest member is Henry M. Jernigan of Ft. Pierce, recently appointed by Governor Collins. Morrison I. Taylor, Jacksonville, was advanced to the chairman-ship replacing J. E. Hollenbeck, Sr., West Palm Beach, whose term expired. Walter S. Hard-Bradford, another Collins appointee, stepped into the post of vice chairman.

Predicting that the 1956-57 Commission year would be the busiest in the history of that body, Chairman Taylor pointed out that it has embarked upon an ambitious program which includes a series of real estate educational seminars in principal cities, the revision of the Florida real estate handbook, streamlining of the examination procedure, and enforcement of a new phase of the real estate law which provides control over out-of-state advertising of Florida land by unregistered developers.

Taylor said that the Commission is already processing application for approval of advertising by developers, a stipulation of the new law intended to eliminate false and imprudent claims in advertising aimed at attracting dollars by mail from unwary investors in other states. The new law also provides for supervision of such advertising in national magazines, radio and television.

M. M. Smith, Jr., executive secretary in charge of the Commission's offices at Orlando, said that the new policy of conducting all broker and salesman examinations at Orlando is working out satisfactorily. He said that more than 700 applicants participated in the last examination, conducted there on August 20. Examinations are held on the third Monday of each month.

Women 62-65 Eligible SS Benefits Payments

One of the biggest changes in social security in many years occurred August 1, 1956, when President Eisenhower signed the 1956 Amendments to the Social Security Law. It might be called "crashing the age barrier."

Until this year there has been a uniform age at which benefit payments could start for all beneficiaries other than children and widows or widowers in their care. That uniform age was 62; it remains 65 for male beneficiaries. The 1956 amendments to the law, however, lower the age at which women can receive benefits. Beginning with November of this year (1956) women can start getting payments at age 62.

Widows and dependent mothers (in case there is no surviving child or spouse entitled to benefit payments) may begin getting survivors benefit payments when they reach age 62. They will get the same monthly benefit that they would have started to get at age 65 under the old law.

Wives of retired insured workers and retired insured working women can, if they choose, start getting benefit payments at age 62. However, the monthly benefit amount payable to them will be somewhat less than the amounts of the benefits they would have received had they waited until age 65. In case a wife or an insured working woman decides to start getting benefits before age 65, she will continue to receive a reduced amount after she reaches that age.

The amount of the reduction depends on how many months the wife or retired working woman is under age 65. However, as the wife of a retired man, a woman who elects to receive her benefit at age 62 will be ahead in total benefits received for the first 12 years. A retired working woman who elects to receive benefits at any age between 62 and 65 will be ahead in total benefits received for the first 15 years.

An application must be filed for these benefits. A person desiring to file an application or desiring more information should contact their Social Security District Office at 501 North Olive, West Palm Beach, or the representative from that office when he is in their area.

It was also announced that the City Hall at Pahokee at 9:00 a. m. on November 16th and December 14th. He will also be at the Florida State Employment Office in Belle Glade at 9:30 a. m. on November 19th and 26th and December 10th.

Widows interested in filing should bring with them, if possible, their deceased husband's social security number, proof of their marriage, proof of their age, and their own social security number if they have one.

Worthy Grand Matron To Be Honored Here

Plans were made for the official visit of the worthy grand matron, Mrs. Ethel Dobson on Nov. 4, at the first meeting of the new year of the Order of Eastern Star, Thursday night at the Benevolent Hall.

Mrs. Dobson will be in charge of a school of instruction during the morning of Nov. 4 at the Benevolent Hall. Co-chairman for the banquet to be held in the evening are Mrs. Don Aspey and Mrs. W. J. Norris, and Mrs. Joe Cherry will be in charge of the luncheon following the school of instruction.

Announcement was made by Mrs. Jessie Barnes, grand instructor of district 18 that proficiency tests will be held November 25 at Pahokee. An invitation was also extended to attend a meeting on Oct. 11, at which time Joe Cherry, worthy grand patron will be honored.

It was also announced that Mrs. Frieda McEwen, grand conductor, will be at Palm Beach and Mrs. Essie Robinson, chairman of Masonic Home funds of Clewiston, would be honored at the Oct. 18 local meeting.

The resignation of Mrs. Hannah Knight, chaplain was received with regret. She is making her home in Vero Beach with her daughter.

Elected to become members of the chapter by affiliation were Dr. and Mrs. Robert Golden. During the evening program the chapter observed obligation night conducted by Joe Cherry and Mrs. Frank Norris reported on the Student Loan Fund. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Cherry and Mrs. Tony Stein.

Job Openings And Placements Show A 400% Increase

Farm and non-farm job openings and placements climbed to another all time high for the month of September according to a report from the Florida State Employment Service in Belle Glade. "185 placements were made out of 240 non-farm job openings," said L. L. Smith, Manager, today, "and 445 agricultural placements were made during the same period. This represents a 400% increase in both agricultural and non-agricultural activity and reflects in part the expansion now going on in the Glades."

According to the latest reports, this area is in short supply of stenographers, welders and farm equipment mechanics. There is an ample supply of unskilled construction workers and white ranch hands. Ranchers and contractors who are in need of workers in these two fields should contact the local office, located at 41 S. E. Ave.

"P" in Belle Glade. The local office requests that all typists, stenographers who have not registered with them, do so immediately so that the demand for workers in this category can be met.

WEST PALM BEACH

Some 500 women, one of the largest gatherings ever seen here to greet a candidate for office, turned out Monday to meet Congressman Paul Rogers and to hear a brief address by Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts.
Sen. Kennedy, who has been working with Rep.
Rogers on a new system of government budgeting and accounting estimated to save $4 billion annually, called Rogers one of the most energetic officials in Washington. He urged voters to return Congressman Rogers to office as a representative of the 8th Congressional District. The tea, held at Hotel George Washington, drew feminine voters from all parts of Palm Beach County. Sen. Kennedy, right and Cong. Rogers are pictured here during the event.

THE DRIVER'S SEAT

The driver who drinks even one drink and then takes his car down the highway should be called "The Life and Death of the Party."
Alcohol slows down reflexes
the way efficient brakes slow down a car with this difference: a driver controls his brakes, but alcohol controls the driver.Take a look, for a moment, at some figures that show what reflexes really mean. They show, of course, the difference between life and death, but these National Safety Council data on "stopping distance" give a new sharpness to this meaning:A car going 20 miles per hour travels 52 feet between the time a driver sees the danger, applies the brakes, and brings it to a stop. A driver's
"thinking distance" at 60 mph
— that is, the time it takes him to see danger and apply brakes is 68 feet, and the car itself,
going at a mile-a-minute speed,
will travel 338 feet before being stopped by average brakes.At 70 miles an hour — the speed at which so many reflex-fuzzy drivers travel after bending and showing the "thinking distance" is 77 feet, and the stopping distance 332 feet, with good brakes, and 445 feet with
"passable" brakes.There is no way to laugh off these facts. Nor is there any way to laugh off the results caused by ignoring them.Put it this way: if you're going 10 miles an hour, you will cover more ground than the length of a football field before you can stop your car. And this holds true ONLY when your reflexes are normally keen and efficient.A driver whose mind is fuzzy with alcohol will take far more time to see danger and stop his car — if, indeed, he stops it at all before hitting a train, an embankment, or another car.Danger signs such as a pedestrian suddenly stepping into the street, or an automobile cutting recklessly out of its proper traffic lane — don't register automatically in a be-drunk brain. There must be a dual process of recognition and transmission. This may take only a few seconds, but these few seconds are usually the difference between life and death on the highway.Obviously, the ritual of "one for the road" can be a prelude to disaster. It is often the choice between taking a drink and taking a life.Farm Owners Can Borrow

Home Nursing Courses in Schools By Red Cross

The 1956-57 Home Nursing Program of Palm Beach Chapter of the American Red Cross is off to a successful start according to an announcement by Mrs. Guy W. Allison, County Home Nursing Chairman. In support of this statement, Mrs. Allison reported that the first adult class on "Mother and Baby Care" which began September 17th had the largest attendance in its history. Because of this success and the many requests, Mrs. Allison announced that registrations were now being taken for a new adult class on "Mother and Baby Care", to begin Monday, October 8, at 7:30 p.m. These classes are to meet each Monday and Wednesday until the twelve hour course is completed. All prospective fathers as well as mothers are urged to register now at the Chapter House at 201 Evernia St. or by telephone TEmple 2-4233.

The record breaking class under the direction of Mrs. Eugene H. Tyler, R.N., and Mrs. Robert F. Mooney, R.N., Mrs. Mooney is to conduct the new session. Mrs. Bessie Dyett, R.N., of the Palm Beach Hospital, Health Department is now conducting a class on "Mother and Baby Care" at the Carver High School. A similar class will be given at all schools later in the fall.

In giving the overall report of Home Nursing Service Program throughout the county, Mrs. Allison announced that Miss Rebecca E. King, R.N., is now conducting a class of instruction on home nursing at the Carver High School. Mrs. Lillian L. Smith, County Director of Nursing Service, is giving instruction on Home Care of the Sick at the Palm Beach Air Force Base Hospital. A course on Home Care of the Sick is now under way in the following county schools: Belle Glade High School, Pahokee High School, Central Junior High School, Riviera Beach Junior High, Northumbria Junior High, Carver High School and Roosevelt High School. This course will be held in other schools following the completion of the course in the above mentioned schools.

County Establishing Modern Jet Airport

An impressive start on plans for construction of a jet airport for Palm Beach County was disclosed this week by County Engineer Steve Middleton in a progress report to the county commission.

Middleton told the board plans for the new airport have already been discussed with Civil Aeronautics Authorities in Miami; with the Airforce in the Pentagon and with land owners in the area where the new field will be built.

Middleton located the site of the proposed field as north of Okeechobee Road, south of the new Pratt & Whitney jet plant west of Jupiter and west of State Road 7. Some 4,000 acres will be needed for the site.

The engineer reported that a proposed map of the port is now being drawn and will be ready in about two months.

The field will serve a triple purpose when completed — serving the military completely with housing developments; commercial airlines and industries. Middleton said completion of the field would bring a great increase in industry associated with jet aviation.

One of the principal points in picking a location for the field, the engineer said, is to pick a site where it will be possible to use the present system of electronic airways navigational aids.

E. M. FINLAYSON, Jefferson County Seed Grower, and President of the Florida Farm Bureau who will preside over the organization's upcoming 15th annual state convention in Fort Myers October 28, 29, 30. Voting delegates from 59 Counties, representing over 25,000 farm families will attend the meeting.

With a membership of about 25,000 Farm Families (or about 75,000 members), Florida Farm Bureau Federation seeks to do what farmers want done for their profession and their country. It is a private, non-governmental, non-sectarian, and non-political organization, composed of 59 County Farm Bureaus. It is one of 48 state federations and Puerto Rico, comprising the American Farm Bureau Federation, which has 1,600,000 members, and is the world's largest agricultural organization. It is designed for and operates as an organ for its member farmers to accomplish together what they cannot do as individuals.

Farm Bureau functions like any other democratic organization. Each farm family has a voice in the formation of policies that guide the elected leaders as they represent farmers in various places such as the State Legislature, the Congress and others. A great many folks want to know the thinking of agricultural people on many subjects and Farm Bureau does the job of answering them.

Farm Bureau has representatives in the State and National Capitals during all law-making sessions who report to the members on the progress of legislation that affects farmers. Farm Bureau representatives also act as consultants to law-makers regarding agricultural matters. Throughout the years, Farm Bureau has enjoyed a good reputation in legislative halls because:

1. Farm Bureau policies are always consistent with the segments of the Nation's population; beneficial not only for farmers but the entire country;
2. Farm Bureau is non-partisan; it uses only "Positive" means of propounding its program.

Law-makers know that Farm Bureau policies are developed through democratic means and are not "handed-down" to its members.

"During the 1955-56 season I used DITHANE M-22 exclusively on over 1000 acres of tomatoes. Disease control was excellent ... in spite of generally poor growing conditions my overall average yield was 350 field boxes per acre, which was highly satisfactory under the year's conditions."

For excellent tomato disease control — grower uses Dithane M-22 exclusively

During the past few years, one prominent grower after another has found that DITHANE M-22 (manh) helps give the highest possible yield of marketable tomatoes that growing conditions permit.

There are three reasons: (1) DITHANE M-22 gives outstanding control of late blight and early blight, Septoria leaf spot, gray mold and anthracnose; (2) it is safe for blossoms, fruit, and vines when used as recommended; (3) it helps the vines stay healthier, with rich green foliage.

If you spray, you can obtain DITHANE M-22 in two bag sizes with just the right amount of wettable powder for any standard tank capacity. Your local dealer also has blended dust containing DITHANE M-22 with or without insecticides.

DITHANE is a trademark, Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. and its principal foreign countries.
